Mike Osborn

Mike has lived and graduated from Logansport the majority of his life. He has an associate's degree in human services and is a Peer Recovery Specialist. Mike has been a Pastor for 23 years, focusing on Adolescent and Youth ministries for 14 years. Nine years ago, Mike began working with individuals and family members associated with the criminal justice system. He began Logansport Celebrate Recovery, A Christ-centered 12-step program, which continues today at the Logansport Church. Mike will be retiring from Celebrate Recovery as of the first of January and will focus on working with individuals in face-to-face small group settings and one-on-one peer recovery coaching.

Mike was instrumental in forming The Father's House recovery home for men and now, is the Vice President and project coordinator for Women at the Well Recovery Home and Resource Organization. He remains focused on working with those involved with the Justice system, seeking a new direction in life.

Mike is married to Veronica, and they have four (adult) children and one granddaughter! His career and personal life, which include ten years of foster parenting, have deepened his passion for helping others, especially those experiencing oppression. Because of this, Mike is a part of the Stand-Up Cass County prevention coalition. He believes all individuals should have the opportunity to have a good support system that demonstrates authentic integrity and cares for those considered to be the least, the last, and the lost by showing action. This is what the members of Stand Up Coalition demonstrate.
